SPECIAL TO THE WEEKENDER

'Bis Gleich' will be shown at the 2014 Breckenridge Film Festival in September.

Quiet Gem for 2014 Breckenridge Film Festival

by BETH GROUNDWATER

"Bis Gleich" is a quiet gem of a short drama that will appear in the upcoming Sept. 18-21 Breckenridge Film Festival, packed full of films that will make you laugh or cry, gasp in fear or wonder and that will stir your heart. "Bis Gleich," which is German for "see you soon" or "till then," is a film about "an unspoken connection between two elderly neighbors, who share a daily ritual but who have never actually met, that deepens when they face the inevitable ... together," according to the filmmaker.

A man and a woman sit at their respective windows across from each other on a busy street in Berlin, Germany, and observe the interesting minor dramas unfolding on the street below them. They never speak, but they acknowledge each others' presence. But then one day the man does not appear. What should the woman do?

Instead of relying on a preponderance of dialogue to express emotion and move the story forward, the scriptwriter, Tara Lynn Orr, and director, Benjamin Wolff, expertly use the characters' actions to tenderly reveal the story to the viewer, the courage it takes for the woman to act, and the bittersweet result. This 19 minute smile awaits you!

The Breckenridge Film Festival will bring more than 50 independent films, their filmmakers and festival-goers to Breckenridge from Sept. 18-21. Featuring chances to meet filmmakers, panel discussions, plenty of parties and mingling, and — back this year — the Adventure Reel for young and young-at-heart audiences, the festival promises to delight.
